To whom it may Concern,

The purpose of this letter is to recommend Elaina Ford for your scholarship. Elaina was a student in my Principles of Accounting class in Christopher Newport University last semester. My class is known to be challenging and demanding because I focus on CPA exam questions from the first day and I am quite demanding of my students. By the end of their class, students can prepare basic financial statements and are quite efficient in Journal Entries. Elaina has been an outstanding student, and although I have tried very hard to lower her grade, she consistently got 100s in all of my tests. My mean grade for the course is usually between 70 and 80 and Elaina has outperformed all her class mates. Besides from her academic success, she is also very personable and nice to talk to. She definitely understands accounting and can use her analytical skills for decision making. She has my highest recommendations. If you would like to talk to me a bit more about Elaina, I can be reached at 757-594-7238 at your convenience.

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing this letter to highly recommend Elaina Ford to be a recipient of the accounting scholarship without hesitation or reservation. I can think of no one more deserving than Elaina for this honor.

I have known Elaina for nearly nine years and have had the privilege to be her youth pastor and friend. I have seen her grow and mature into the incredible young woman she is today. She is one of the most thoughtful and caring people I know. She is very active with our church. She has been a member of our youth ministry and currently our young adult ministry. She also serves in the children's department where she works with infants through fifth graders. Periodically, she volunteers in our church office as support staff.

Elaina is highly intelligent, wise beyond her years, and a very dedicated and hard worker. The greatest thing I could say about Elaina is that she loves God and loves people. This above all attributes to her mature and outstanding character, and her loving a caring spirit.

It is for these reasons and more that I can wholeheartedly recommend Elaina Ford for the accounting scholarship.

Sincerely,

Brian C. Adams

Essay

Elaina Ford

I currently attend Christopher Newport University as an Accounting major in the Luter School of Business. I am in my second year there, and I have been commuting to campus to save money these past two years. To finance my education, I receive grants and take out student loans to cover the difference. Last year, I received enough funds from a scholarship to cover almost all of the loans I took out for my first academic year at CNU. That scholarship proved to be a tremendous blessing. This year, unfortunately I have had to take out a lot more loans, which I will have to pay off after I graduate. To help me make some interest payments on my loans so it won't accrue so fast and also to pay on my vehicle, I work fulltime as a bank teller over my summer and winter breaks.

When I graduate with my Accounting degree, I will continue to further my higher education, which will be at a large cost as well. I wish to get my Master's degree in Accounting at probably either the College of William & Mary or the University of Virginia. Once I obtain this degree, I would like to continue to better myself by obtaining the CPA certification. During all of my schooling, hopefully starting this summer, I could also work in the field of Accounting. I hope to obtain an internship before I graduate with my Bachelor's degree, and then after graduation, work for a good company or an accounting firm while I continue to become more marketable through the Master's degree and certification. I love the world of business, and as a CPA, there is much good I could do in it. I am anxious to get started working in this field and feel the hands-on experience I will obtain as an intern and while working in the field while furthering my knowledge is just as important, if not more, than the classroom learning experience I will continue to receive.

Even though Accounting is the most interesting subject I learn about at CNU, I work hard and give adequate attention to all my other classes there as well. I am shaping into a well-rounded product of a liberal arts education, and am already seeing its benefits first-hand. I have already developed knowledge of how the arts, sciences, and languages tie into everything else. They are useful to have a good knowledge about to make you a better individual and a more cultured person that can relate to all other different kinds of people we all encounter. In this modern world, we need more well-balanced people, and I plan to be one.
